Office of the Secretary of State
Consular Service
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen;

This office has recently received two requests for "our free book" from Iraq. Not knowing any other logical reason for these people wanting such information than to perhaps get more detailed information on our area for possible use by their neighbor to the East. We are located on a direct air route from Russia to Chicago and Detroit and do not want to implement any use of this route by additional information. A similar inquiry came to a business man of this town about a year ago.

The inquiries are from;

R. Zakko ⁷³
Khasraj St. No. 5
Mosul, Iraq

(and)

Muhammad Hassan
Nighfy St.
Mosul, Iraq

We are taking the liberty of enclosing copies of our brochure for forwarding to the above inquirers if deemed proper by your office.

Respectfully yours,
S. B. Vaughan

My dear Mr. Vaughan:

In response to your inquiry of March 22, 1952, the Department of State sees no objection to your supplying Mr. R. Zakko and Mr. Muhammad Hassan of Mosul, Iraq with copies of the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce booklet, "Its Frankfort Michigan for your Vacation", if you wish to do so.

You may already know of the Department of State's Informational and Cultural Exchange Program abroad under the United States Information Service. People the world over are eager to learn more about America, and supplying information on democracy in action is one of the ways in which we are combating communism. It is probable that Mr. Zakko and Mr. Hassan obtained the idea of writing to your office through some of the material from the United States Information Center at Baghdad.

Since the Department does not undertake to forward non-official material when regular postal channels are available, the three copies of your booklet enclosed in your letter are returned.

Sincerely yours,

For the Secretary of State:

Howard A. Cook
Chief
Division of Public Liaison

Enclosures:

Three brochures (returned).

Mr. S. B. Vaughan, Secretary,
Chamber of Commerce,
Frankfort, Michigan.
