To Whom It May Concern:

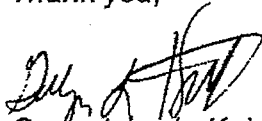

I am writing to request information regarding how my ex-husband, SSN: _____ received a disability check for my son,
_____. My ex-husband began receiving this check in December 1992, and I had the check stopped in 1994, the day after I was granted primary custody of my only child.

I am disturbed that my ex-husband received these funds claiming that my child had an attention deficit disorder. I was never consulted, or signed any papers for my child to get any type of disability payments. In the last 8-years that he has lived exclusively with me, my child has been an excellent student, makes the honor roll, and never been in any trouble with law enforcement.

Yet, someone at the Social Security Administration deemed my ex-husband fit to give him an enormous amount of money. I want these records disclosed to me.

Would you please send me all the relevant information on this case? My home number is 703.445.9066 and work us 202.772.7317.

Thank you,

Gwendolyn L. Knighton
