

Michael M. Harmon, Professor: BA (Political Science), Utah State University; MPA, PhD, University of Southern California. Professor Harmon's teaching and research interests include organization theory, administrative ethics, and philosophy of social science. He has previously served as Public Administration Department Chair, Senior Associate Dean in the School of Business and Public Management, and Director of the former Ph.D. Program in Public Administration. He has given numerous lectures and seminar presentations in these subject areas at universities both in the U.S. and abroad, including in Korea, China, Australia, Canada, and South Africa. He frequently contributes to the Public Administration Review and other journals, and has authored three books on public administration and organizational theory.