The Arlington County Public Health Volunteer Management System (ACPH-VMS) recognizes the efforts and time you committed to report as a volunteer. All registration and credentialing information that you provided is retained in the ACPH-VMS volunteer database. You are now considered an Arlington County Public Health 'registered and credentialed' volunteer.

The ACPH-VMS receives and processes requests for volunteers to augment County personnel through their Incident Command System/Incident Management System (ICS/IMS), which is directly responsible for incident operations and management required to address this emergency. The ACPH-VMS does not independently develop or deploy volunteer assignments.

Presently there are no open incident positions for your qualifications, but this may change: personnel requirements during emergencies flux over time and requested volunteer positions commonly evolve as the emergency response progresses.

If positions become available for your qualifications, we will notify you through the contact data you provided during registration. If you are able to assist at that time, you will be provided all necessary instructions and an assignment briefing will be arranged for you.

For safe and effective management of emergency incidents, it is imperative that strict site control and accountability is maintained. All public health volunteers working in this emergency must be processed and assigned through the ACPH-VMS. We remind you that unauthorized entry into incident work sites, even as an unassigned volunteer looking to assist, constitutes trespassing.

Again, we thank you for your offer of service to Arlington County Division of Public Health.
