GW In the News
November 1 – 15, 2007

The Washington Post (11/1) noted GW in an article regarding the field of public interest.

GW’s School of Public Health and Health Services (SPHHS) Department of Health Policy was mentioned on digital50.com (11/2) regarding the Strategies to Overcome and Prevent (STOP) Obesity Alliance.

Virginislandsdailynews.com (11/2) and theherald.co.uk (11/5) noted GW in an article discussing National Geographic Traveler’s rating of the Destinations Scorecard survey of 111 islands worldwide.

Time.com (11/9) noted GW regarding its collaboration with Indian schools of higher education.

The Washington Post (11/13) noted GW President Steven Knapp’s gift of two hog island sheep. The sheep were given to president Knapp as a prelude to his inauguration as 16th president of the university.

Digital50.com (11/14) noted GW in an article regarding Allstate feeding 12,000 Chicagoans for Thanksgiving.

Readexpress.com (11/14) noted GW’s landscape design courses in an article regarding the career of Sandy Farber, a cooperative-extension agent and master-gardener coordinator at the University of the District of Columbia.

Susan Aaronson, associate research professor of international affairs, was quoted on humanevents.com (11/13) in an article regarding U.S. Labor Policy.

Adele Alexander, adjunct associate professor of history, was quoted in The Washington Post (11/3) regarding the historic Eastern Market neighborhood.

Jerome Barron, Harold H. Greene Professor of Law, was quoted in The Washington Times (11/14) in an article regarding the District’s appeal of a federal court ruling that overturned the city's gun ban.

Sarah Binder, professor of political science, was quoted on cnn.com (11/1) regarding the new Democratic Congress’ inability to implement its priorities.
Thomas Blanton, National Security Archive, was quoted in The New York Times (11/3) regarding allegations that Hillary Clinton has been too secretive.

Arturo Carrillo, associate professor of clinical law, was quoted on usinfo.state.gov (11/1) regarding Colombia’s move toward greater national security.

Robert Cottrol, professor of history, sociology, and Harold Green research professor of law, was quoted on clarionledger.com (11/6) regarding castle doctrine statutes.

John Dages, senior associate director of university counseling center, appeared on news.medill.northwestern.edu (11/13) providing on-camera information regarding what the University Counseling Center is doing in response to the California wildfires and how they respond to similar situations.

Paul Dangerfield, assistant professor of anesthesiology and critical care medicine, was quoted on wusa9.com (11/1) regarding the On-Q pump.

Daina Eglitis, assistant professor of sociology and international affairs, was quoted on iht.com (11/11) regarding Baltic history.

Amitai Etzioni, University Professor and professor of international affairs, wrote an op-ed posted on beta.silobreaker.com (11/7) regarding Hillary Clinton’s and John McCain’s foreign policy agendas.

Meredith Fuchs, general counsel, National Security Archive, was quoted on star-telegram.com (11/14) regarding President Bush’s old state policy of deleting e-mails once a week.

Leon Fuerth, research professor of international affairs, was quoted on stuff.co.nz (11/6) regarding a report he co-authored, published by the Centre for Strategic and International Studies that offers three scenarios for the security implications of climate change. Carbonpositive.net (11/6) noted the report.

Julie Germany, deputy director, GW’s Institute for Politics, Democracy, and the Internet, was quoted on philly.com (11/9) regarding internet campaigning in an article regarding Ron Paul’s campaign for president.

Stephen Hess, distinguished research professor of media and public affairs, was quoted in The Washington Times (11/9) regarding President Bush’s effort to boost his public image near the end of his term. The Washington Post (11/14) quoted him regarding President Bush’s efforts to bring Israelis and Palestinians together at a U.S.-led conference in Annapolis.
Peter Hotez, chair of the department of microbiology and professor of microbiology and tropical medicine, was quoted in The New York Times (11/6) regarding a new online medical journal devoted to neglected tropical diseases. Thedaily.washington.edu (11/8) quoted him regarding hookworm.

Karl Inderfurth, John O. Rankin Professor of the Practice of International Affairs, was quoted on azcentral.com (11/6) in a Christian Science Monitor article regarding the U.S. government’s stance on relations with Pakistan. News.yahoo.com (11/12) quoted him regarding India’s ties with Ahmadinejad.

Philip Joyce, professor of public policy and public administration, was quoted on realclearpolitics.com (11/1) regarding late appropriations in Congress.

Orin Kerr, associate professor of law, was noted on lawprofessors.typepad.com (11/15) where the abstract from his “Four Models of Fourth Amendment Protection” was posted.

Christopher Klemek, assistant professor of history, was quoted on cityroom.blogs.nytimes.com (11/1) regarding Jane Jacobs’ contributions to New York City.

Steven Knapp, president of GW, was quoted on jhu.edu (11/1) regarding the University Committee on the Status of Women at The Johns Hopkins University.

Charis Kubrin, associate professor of sociology, was quoted in the Washington Examiner (11/2) regarding D.C. Police Chief Cathy Lanier’s “All Hands on Deck” effort.

Ira Lupu, F. Elwood and Eleanor Davis Professor of Law, was quoted on firstamendmentcenter.org (11/9) in an Associated Press article regarding the Hein v. Freedom from Religion Foundation.

Marc Lynch, associate professor of political science and international affairs, was quoted by The Washington Post (11/15) in an article regarding the war in Iraq.

Jarol Manheim, professor of media and public affairs and of political science, was quoted on mackinac.org (11/9) regarding unions’ use of corporate campaign tactics.

David Michaels, research professor of environmental occupational health, was quoted on chicagotribune.com (11/2) and on healthdecisions.org (11/12) in an LA Times article regarding the performance of The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) in protecting workers from diacetyl.

Veronica Miller, research professor of prevention and community health, was quoted on newsscientist.com (11/2) in an article regarding a tuberculosis vaccine dangerous to infants with HIV.

Michael Olding, chief, division of plastic surgery and associate professor of surgery, was quoted on wusa9.com (11/12) regarding the death of Kanye West’s mother.
Arnold Reitze, J.B. and Maurice C. Shapiro Professor of Environmental Law, was quoted on baltimoresun.com (11/9) regarding a case concerning the construction of a Laurel-to-Gaithersburg highway.

Leo Ribuffo, professor of history, wrote a letter to the editor posted on nytimes.com (11/11).

Richard Riegelman, professor of epidemiology and biostatistics, was quoted on insidehighered.com (11/7) regarding undergraduate public health education.

James Robinson, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology, was quoted on wusa9.com (11/14) regarding laparoscopic myomectomy.

Steven Schooner, senior associate dean for academic affairs in the law school and associate professor of law, was quoted in The Washington Post (11/4) regarding a previous Post story about a retired Air Force officer who soon after the story was printed, committed suicide. Associated Press quoted him in a story posted on washingtonpost.com (11/9) regarding the Government Accountability Office and military contract decisions.

Frank Sesno, professor of media and public affairs, was profiled on acorn-online.com (11/6).

David Shambaugh, professor of political science and international affairs, was quoted on calibre.mworld.com (11/1) regarding the Communist Party of China. Washingtonpost.com (11/12) quoted him regarding propaganda authorities recent actions in China.

John Sides, assistant professor of political science, was quoted on thehill.com (11/6) regarding the large number of Republicans expected to vote to override President Bush’s veto of legislation funding $23 billion worth of water projects.

Daniel Solove, associate professor of law, was interviewed for an article posted on readexpress.com (11/5) and on kmov.com (11/6) regarding privacy. Computerworld.com (11/9) quoted him in an article regarding a new Facebook ad system.

Ronald Spector, professor of history and international affairs, was noted on huntingtonnews.net (11/5) in a review of his book, In the Ruins of Empire: The Japanese Surrender and the Battle for Postwar Asia.

Janet Steele, associate professor of media and public affairs, was quoted on asia.news.yahoo.com (11/14) regarding the Indonesian media.

Christopher Sterling, professor of media and public affairs and of public policy and public administration, was quoted on tv-technology.com (11/2) regarding a discussion of localism at an FCC meeting.

Michael Taylor, research professor of health policy, was quoted on online.wsj.com (11/6) regarding the need for preventive controls on food products.
Krizi Trivisani, director, systems security operations/CSO, was noted on biz.yahoo.com (11/8) regarding being a finalist for the ISE National Awards 2007.

Jonathan Turley, J.B. and Maurice C. Shapiro Professor of Public Service, was quoted on q13.trb.com (11/4) and arabnews.com (11/6) regarding the Holy Land Foundation mistrial. Detnews.com (11/2) posted his op-ed regarding Michael Mukasey’s evasion on the topic of “waterboarding.” Nola.com (11/3) quoted him regarding the “D.C. Madam case.” Chicagotribune.com (11/12) quoted him in an article regarding records withheld from an exhibit celebrating Hillary Clinton in the William Jefferson Clinton Presidential Library.

Akos Vertes, deputy chair, department of chemistry, professor of chemistry and of biochemistry and molecular biology, and Peter Nemes were noted on spectroscopynow.com (11/16) regarding ambient, open-air ionisation techniques for mass spectrometry.

Gayle Wald, professor of English, was quoted on nwanews.com (11/11) regarding her book, Shout, Sister, Shout ! The Untold Story of Rock and Roll Trailblazer Sister Rosetta Tharpe.

Alan Wasserman, chair of the department of medicine and professor of medicine, was quoted in genengnews.com (11/5) regarding research on the use of TB4 for cardiovascular protection and repair.

Ron Weitzer, professor of sociology, was quoted on newsobserver.com (11/11) regarding a prostitution ring case.

Arthur Wilmarth, professor of law, was quoted on menafn.com (11/13) regarding the Treasury Department’s search for public comment for its review of numerous financial institution regulators.

Anthony Yezer, professor of economics, was quoted on ajc.com (11/4) regarding a study that shows that in Atlanta, black people are more likely than whites to take out subprime mortgages when purchasing a home.